BULLET BATTED

HIM ON THE HEAD

John Wood Makes Complaint

When That Member Is Made

Target For Air Gun

Practice.

That man's head was made for more profitable employment and deserves better treatment than a mere target for air gun practice, is the opinion of John Wood, and it's not to wonder at that his feelings, as well as his head, were hurt when a ball from an air rifle batted him on that member, and unceremoniously, too.

It happened Monday and the way of it is told thus: John was sitting in front of the meat shop thinking no harm, while several boys further up the street were engaged in target practice. All went well until a shot singled out John's head, coming with such violence and so abruptly as to cause the owner to "sit up and take notice" immediately.

It is said that John at first thought he had "bees in his bonnet" and proceeded to get busy along that line, when some one told him he had been struck by a cannon ball.

Horace Tucker was "the man behind the gun" in this instance, and he made the usual settlement with the city for "knocking a knot" on John's head.

OPERATORS STRIKE

Telegraphers at Chicago Do Not Like Their Conditions of Service.

LEFT KEYS AT MIDNIGHT

With a Cheer the Men Employed in the Western Union Office Arose and Deserted Their Posts.

Strike Was Ordered by Local Union Without Sanction of the National Organization.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—The telegraph operators employed by the Western Union in Chicago went on strike last night at 12 o'clock. The trouble was precipitated by the Los Angeles strike, which was inaugurated two days ago. Last night the local executive board of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union met and passed resolutions requesting the men to refuse to work with the non-union operators employed in Los Angeles. When the men were notified of this step all operators employed in the overland division of the local office refused to work any longer with the non-union men on the other end of the wire. When this announcement was made Night Chief Harry Price ordered all who refused to work to leave the office. He then went into other divisions and requested the men to go into the overland division. In every case he was met with a refusal until over seventy men had been sent home. The grievance committee of the union called on Mr. Price and notified him that unless every man was reinstated by midnight every union man in the office would be called out. This demand was refused and promptly at midnight by prearrangement a whistle was blown and every operator employed in the main office with the exception of six wire and loop chiefs, together with Night Manager Price and his two assistants, left their keys and with a round of cheers, fled out of the office.

The men employed by the company at various morning newspapers had been notified of the contemplated strike and they also quit work. The national officials of the union spent all day yesterday in an effort to prevent the "rank and file" of the organization from taking matters in their own hands and calling a strike. The men for weeks have maintained a sullen attitude toward the company.

The Chicago force was dissatisfied with the basis of the settlement reached at the time the strike in San Francisco was called off. It was under these conditions that strike was called without the sanction of the national officers. "The men were utterly tired of the conditions under which they were working and could not stand it any longer. When the additional insult of asking them to work with non-union men in Los Angeles was put upon them, they refused to stand and quit work. We could get no information of the situation on the Pacific coast from our national officials, so we decided that it was up to us to take care of ourselves."

"Everybody Should Know" says C. G. Hays, a prominent business man, of Bloom, Mo., that Buckle's Arnica Salve is the quickest and surest healing salve ever applied to a sore, burn or wound, or to a case of piles. I've used it and know what I'm talking about." Guaranteed by Severs Drug Co. 25c.

Secretary Taft will be present at this meeting of the assembly. American citizens coming within the requirements will be permitted the right of suffrage, for American citizens are not considered "subjects of any foreign power." The first Philippine assembly will consist of eighty-four members, apportioned on the basis of one delegate for each 90,000 of population. Provision is made to increase this number, but the total number of delegates cannot exceed 100. ### NO SETTLEMENT IN SIGHT

Situation at Los Angeles Points to a Long Strike.

Los Angeles, Aug. 9.—Settlement of the telegraphers' strike appears as remote today as during the first hour of the strike. District Superintendent Lamb, representing the company, twice refused to receive or deal with a committee representing the men who walked out and the latter are firm in their attitude of demanding the reinstatement of John E. Ryan, the operator whose discharge was indirectly responsible for the strike.

Superintendent Lamb said today: "I cannot receive a committee of strikers representing a discharged employee or his grievances." The operators will hold a meeting today to consider further plans for the opening of negotiations. There are about twenty men at work in the Western Union office. Superintendent Lamb said: "Business is in a very satisfactory condition. We are well up with the business, in fact I think we are ahead of the usual schedule at this hour. The men at work are competent operators and are working with enthusiasm."

Several of the men at the keys today have been at work almost continuously since the strike began Wednesday afternoon.

A Traveling Man's Experience.

"I must tell you my experience on an East bound O. R. & N. R. R. train from Pendleton to Le Grande, Ore," writes Sam A. Garber, a well known traveling man. "I was in the smoking department with some other traveling men when one of them went out into the coach and came back and said, 'There is a woman sick unto death in the car.' I at once got up and went out, found her very ill with cramp colic, her hands and arms were drawn up so you could not straighten them, and with a death-like look on her face. Two or three ladies were working with her and giving her whiskey. I went to my suit case and got my bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy (I never travel without it), ran to the water tank, put a double dose of the medicine in the glass, poured some water into it and stirred it with a pencil; then I had quite a time to get the ladies to let me give it to her, but I succeeded. I could at once see the effect and I worked with her, rubbing her hands, and in twenty minutes I gave her another dose. By this time we were almost into Le Grande, where I was to leave the train. I gave the bottle to the husband to be used in case another dose should be needed, but by the time the train ran into Le Grande she was all right, and I received the thanks of every passenger in the car. For sale by Severs Drug Co."

FILLED WITH DEAD

Streets of Casablanca Laid In Waste by Fire From French Warships.

CITY FULL OF DEAD MOORS

Following Continued Street Disturbances Gunboats In the Harbor Delivered Stern Object Lesson.

Disturbed Moorish Port is Now Said to Be Calm, Order Having Been Restored.

Tangier, Aug. 4.—The latest news received here from Casablanca says

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not infrequently a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, is fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

Don't make any mistake but remember the name Swamp-Root. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

that calm and order have now been established. The military governor also requested permission to go on board a ship in the harbor, but was refused. He fears for his personal safety, and although money has been sent here to pay the troops at Casablanca and ensure the performance of their duties, he is unable to secure a bodyguard.

A Moorish officer here has just received a letter from the governor of Tetuan, stating that Caid Sir Henry MacLean is no longer in custody of Raisuli, the chief of Knass tribe having ing demanded and obtained permission that he be turned over to their custody. If this be true there is little doubt that the Caid will soon be liberated. The horrors of the looting of Casablanca by native tribesmen are becoming known, and their recital is infaming the minds of the natives against all Europeans. The situation in various coast towns is worse. The natives are excited. A holy war is being preached at Rabat. Anti-foreign sentiment is growing as a result of the activities of fanatical agitators. There is fear of a general outbreak. A number of European families are preparing to flee from Tangier. The Angora tribesmen, in the immediate vicinity of Tangier, are restless and may get out of hand. The Moorish authorities have practically no control of the situation.

The Angora tribesmen are firing two miles from Tangier. The European residents, including the British minister, Gerard A. Lowther and his family, have left their mountain dwellings and returned to the town.

The shooting inside of Casablanca lasted for two full days. The Kabyles have gone back out of range of fire from the warships, but they are ready to swoop down on the town at the first opportunity. Owing to the continued street fighting French warships Wednesday landed 2,000 additional men at Casablanca, where the Jewish quarter had been sacked. Many persons were massacred in the streets. The city is said to be full of dead Moors and the Moorish quarter is in ruins, having been set on fire by the shells from the big guns of the cruisers. All the stores are closed and much hunger and distress prevails among the poor.

The foreign consuls have ordered the stores to be reopened and have established a special tariff for foodstuffs, designed to mitigate the sufferings of the poor. The Europeans, who are all safe, either on board ships or at the consulates, are guarded by blue-jackets.

French sailors are guarding the British consulate at Casablanca where the consular agents of the United States, Germany, Austria-Hungary and Sweden have sought refuge. The Italian and Portuguese consuls are at the French consulate. A mine, from which a heavy sustained fire was directed against the French consulate, was demolished by the guns of the French ships at the request of the Moroccan authorities.

The European shops were pillaged but no Europeans were killed.

The state bank agency at Casablanca has been robbed of about $15,000 but no details of the robbery have been made public.

The French consulate was attacked by Moors during the night of Aug. 5. One blue jacket of the guard was killed and three were badly wounded. The customhouse at Casablanca was looted by natives on Tuesday and many other buildings were set on fire and destroyed.

There are a great many people who have slight attacks of indigestion and dyspepsia nearly all the time. Their food may satisfy the appetite but it fails to nourish the body simply because the stomach is not in fit condition to do the work it is supposed to do. It can't digest the food you eat. The stomach should be given help. You ought to take something that will do the work your stomach can't do. Kodol for Indigestion and Dyspepsia, a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids, digests the food itself and gives strength and health to the stomach. Pleasant to take. Sold by all druggists.

A "piled pipe" is wanted in the valley of Aggill, in Corsica, where great damage is being done by a plague of crickets, and a substantial sum is promised to any one who can suggest an efficacious remedy.

Married in Kansas.

Brickey, of Nickerson, and Mr. John C. Teter, of this city. The ceremony was performed at the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. D. F. Pate, of Rice county. The home was attractively decorated with sweet peas and roses. Green and white were the colors in the ceremony room. The bridal party stood against a background of palms, ferns and potted flowers.

Rev. T. Moore of the Baptist church of Nickerson, performed the impressive ring ceremony at 1:30 o'clock. Before the ceremony, Miss Bertha Selles, of Nickerson, sang, "In After Years When I Am Old." After the ceremony congratulations and best wishes of their many friends and relatives were extended. Mrs. Pate served an elaborate three course dinner. The dining room was beautifully decorated in red and white with sweet peas. The table decoration was a large bowl of pink roses. The buffet was decorated in white, with bowls of cut flowers. The bride's dress was a pretty champagne chiffon trimmed in baby Irish lace and mesholins. She carried bride's roses. The bridesmaid gown was a dainty blue Soletto with white trimmings. The groom is well known in this city and has a host of friends who join in wishing them most happiness. Those present from Hutchinson were: Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Teter, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. THE LION AND
THE MOUSE.
By CHARLES KLEIN.
A Story of American Life Novelized From the Play by ARTHUR HORNBLow.
COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY.

There was one other person in New York who at that same morning had read the story in his daily paper—the editor-of-Roberts betrothal, and he did not take the matter so calmly as Shirley. He thought it would be worth the effect of putting him into a violent rage. This was Jefferson. He was sitting in his study, reading the paper, and five minutes later he was tearing updown to seek the author of it. He wanted to force his hand, to shame himself for Senator Roberts' behavior. He thought if he could get the papers again against his mother and put the matter in her hands. She would have no objection to his doing so. He would make short work of Mr. Bagley, but thought Jefferson, why should I wait? I will wait until you come. I will wait a day or two. There was no hurry. He could allow Bagley to think that he was waiting for him to come and cover the plot at the eleventh hour. He would even let this letter go to the printer, and seal it with wax, enclosing another envelope and imitating him into this marriage, to change his life with the girl to whom he would have been possible to an honorable man. It was a despicable trick, and he had no doubt that his father was at the back of it. So he would now was fully made up. He would go away at once where they could not make his life a burden with this odious marriage which was fast becoming a nightmare to him. He would close up his studio and leave immediately for Europe. He would show his father once for all that he was a man and expected to be treated as one.

On arriving home the first person he him into this marriage, to so change the life of the other hand-arrived wife. It would be possible to an honorable man. It was a despicable trick, and he had no doubt that his father was at the back of it. His old mind now was fully made up. He would go away at once where they could not make his life a burden. In this odious marriage which was fast becoming a nightmare to him. He would close up his studio and leave immediately for Europe. He would show his father once for all that he was a man and expected to be treated as one.

On arriving home the first person he saw was the ubiquitous Mr. Bagley, who stood at the top of the first staircase giving some letters to the butler. Jefferson cornered him at once, holding out the newspaper containing the offending paragraph.

"Say, Bagley," he cried, "what does this mean? Is this any of your doing?"

The English secretary gave the employer's son a haughty stare and then, without deigning to reply or even to glance at the newspaper, continued his instructions to the servant:

"Here, Jorkins, get stamps for all

These letters and see they are mailed at once to the person of very important."

"Very good, sir."

The man took the letters and disappeared, while Jefferson, impatient, repeated, "Very good, sir."

"My doing," sneered Mr. Bagley. "Really, Jefferson, you too far do. Do you suppose for one instant that I am going to trouble myself to trouble myself with your affairs?"

Jefferson was in no mood to put up with insolence from any one, especially from a man whom he himself despised. He was advancing manfully, he thundered:

"You here would spring the trap. Such a deed deserved no mercy. The scandalous conduct of a knave like you, who would discharge him on the spot, that would be the last they would see of the aristocratic English secretary."

Jefferson, with his pocket watch in hand, left the house rejoicing. * * *

While the foregoing incidents were happening John Burket's eyes were included in his library. The great man had come home earlier than usual, for he had two important callers to see before he went to bed. One of them was Sergeant Ellison, who had to report to

"Very good, sir."

The man took the letters and disappeared, while Jefferson, impatient, repeated his question:

"Really, Mr. Herbert Mr. Bagley, 'Really, Jefferson, you too far do. Do you suppose for one instant that I would condescend to trouble myself with such trash?'"

"Jefferson was in no mood to put up with insolence from any one, especially from a man whom he heartily despised, so, advancing menacingly, he threatened to follow him."

"I mean—were you in the discharge of your mental-hike duties instructed by my father to send that paragraph to the newspapers regarding my alleged betrothal to Miss Roberts? Yes or no?"

The man winced and made a step backward. There was a gleam in the eyes of the man which he knew by experience boded no good.

"Really, Jefferson," he said in a more conciliatory tone, "I know absolutely nothing about the paragraph. This is the first I hear of it. Why not ask my father?"

"I will," replied Jefferson grimly.

It was turning to go in the direction of the library when Bagley stopped him.

"You cannot possibly see him now," he said. "Sergeant Ellison of the secret service is in there with him, and he will not see you. You must wait on any account. He has another appointment at 3 o'clock with some woman who writes books."

Seeing that he was in earnest, Jefferson did not resist. He could see his father a little later or send him a message through his mother. Poor fellow!

While the foregoing incidents were happening John Burkett Hyder was so following him, that he had come earlier than usual. He had two important callers to see by appointment that afternoon. One was Sergeant Ellison, who had to report on the progress of his investigation. The other was Miss Shirley Green, the author of "The American Octopus," who had at last declined to honor him with a visit. The first of the arrivals was the first to finish. "I may with my secretary trying to get rid as rapidly as possible of what business and correspondence there was on hand.

When he returned at his desk, he was poring over a mass of papers. Between his teeth was the inevitable long black cigar, and when he raised his eyes to the light a close observer might have noticed that he was green all over. The color they assumed when the man's complexion was absorbed in scheming new business deals. Every now and then he consulted the papers for information, and calculations of the paper. Then if the result pleased him a smile overpread his saturnine features. He rose from his chair and walked to the window, as he always did when thinking deeply.

"Five minutes," he muttered, "not a cent more. If they won't sell 'em, they won't."

Mr. Hyder entered. Mr. Hyder looked up quickly.

"The man winced and made a step backward. There was a gleam in the Ryder eye which he knew by experience boded no good.
"Really, Jefferson," he said in a more conciliatory tone, "I know absolutely nothing about the paragraph. This is the first I hear of it. Why not ask your father?"

"He was turning to go in the direction of the library when Bagley stopped him.
"You cannot possibly see him now," he said. "Sergeant Ellison of the secret service is in there with him, and your father told me not to disturb him at any account. He has another appointment at 3 o'clock with some woman who writes books."
Seeing that the fellow was in earnest, Jefferson did not resist. He could see his father a little later or send him a message through his mother. Proceeding upstairs, he found Mr. Ryder in her room, and in a few energetic words he explained the situation to his mother. They had gone too far with this matchmaking business, and he said his father was trying to interfere with his personal liberty, and he was going to put a stop to it. He was carrying on an intrigue of the projected trip abroad, so the news of this sudden departure was not the shock it might otherwise have been.

Jefferson went downstairs something white on the carpet attracted his attention. He stooped and picked it up. It was a letter. It was in Bagley's handwriting and had evidently been dropped by the man to whom the secretary had given it to post. But what interested Jefferson more than anything else was that it was addressed to Miss Kate Roberts. Under ordinary circumstances a king's ransom would have been tempted the young man to read a letter addressed to another, but he was convinced that his father's secretary was an adventurer, and if he was carrying on an intrigue of the projected trip abroad, so the news of this sudden departure was not the shock it might otherwise have been.

The Pain Family
You know them; they are numerous, and make their presence felt everywhere. The names of the family are Headache, Toothache, Earache, Backache, Stomach ache, Neuralgia, etc. They are sentinels that warn you of any derangement of your system. When the brain nerves become affected, Neuralgia simply makes life unendurable. The way to stop pain is to soothe and strengthen the nerves. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills do this. The whole Pain family yield to their influence. Harmless if taken as directed.

"Well, Bagley?" he said interrogatively. "Has Sergeant Ellison come?"
"Yes, sir. But Mr. Herts is downstairs. He insists on seeing you about the Philadelphia gas deal. He says it is a matter of life and death."
"To him-yes," answered the financier dryly. "Let him come up. We might as well have it out now."
Mr. Bagley went out and returned almost immediately, followed by a short, fat man, rather loudly dressed and appetitive in appearance. He looked like a prosperous lawyer, who, as a matter of fact, he was president of a gas company, one of the shrewdest promoters in the country, and a big man in Wall street. There was only one other big man and that was John Ryder. But today, Mr. Herts was not in good condition. His face was pale and his manner flustered and nervous. He was plainly worried.
"Mr. Ryder," he began with excited gesture, "the terms you offer are preposterous. It would mean disaster to the stockholders. Our gas properties are worth six times that amount. We will sell out for $200,000, not a cent less."

Ryder shrugged his shoulders.
"Mr. Herts," he replied coolly, "I am busy today and in no mood for arguing. We'll either buy you out or force you out. Choose. You have our offer. Five millions for your gas property. Will you take it?"

In Memory.
In memory of little L. D. Hawkins, infant son of Richard and Lula Hawkins, who died Sunday, June 25, 1907, aged seven months and eleven days:
We are sad and lonely today,
For just one month since little L. D. went away.
Friday we visited your grave—
You were the most precious gift God ever gave.
Could you have stayed with us our lives to cheer,
I know I could have loved you even dearer here;
But then, God knows best,
And I will keep you safe in the haven of rest.
Dear, sweet little L. D.,
We miss your merry prattle and childish glee.
Many a time has your bright smiling face looked up in mine.
And your eyes, so star in heaven could out shine.
I weep and mourn every day,
As I think in your silent grave you lay.
Sleeping so sweetly beneath the sod,
And resting so happy in the arms of God.
Sleep on, dear sweet little soul,
I would not call you back from that happy land.
For you are better off than we by far,
Happy little angel, my guiding star.
But in our home your presence we sadly miss.
When on your cold brow I pressed a kiss.
As your little white coffin you so peacefully lay.
Farewell, dear babe, till we meet some sweet day.
MOTHER.

KENTUCKY LEADS IN TOBACCO.

AGRICULTURAL INFORMATION

Washington, Aug. 9.—The Agricultural Department has just published a mass of statistical and other information regarding agricultural matters in Kentucky and other States of the Union and throughout the world. Most of the data relates to crops, etc., in 1906, but some of it is of more recent date.

It is shown that Kentucky leads in tobacco, having twice the acreage in that crop, and several times as large a crop as North Carolina, her nearest competitor. The Kentucky acreage in tobacco in 1906 was 290,000, and the average yield of tobacco per acre was 870 pounds. The total production was 252,300,000 pounds, which brought an average farm price on December 1 last of 7.7 cents, and an average farm value on the same date of $19,427,100. This was more than twice as much as the value of Ohio tobacco, which was $8,500,000.

Over 3,000,000 acres in Kentucky were sown in corn last year, and over a hundred million bushels of the grain were produced on that land, the average yield per acre being 33 bushels. The Kentucky crop had a value of $44,283,698. On March 1, 1907, about 47,500,000 bushels of the 1906 crop were still in the hands of Kentucky farmers, the average percentage being 45. Over 12,500,000 bushels had been shipped from the counties where grown. The average value per acre of the Kentucky corn crop on December 1 last year was $13.86, the average farm price per bushel on that date being 42 cents.

The total production of wheat in Kentucky last year was 11,545,598 bushels, which was raised on 815,824 acres of land, and was worth nearly $8,500,000. All of this was winter wheat, of which the average yield per acre was 14.1 bushels, the average value per acre $10.29, and the average farm price on December 1, 1906, was 73 cents.

Other Kentucky crops made a good showing last year, as will be seen from the following figures:

Crops	Production	Value
Oats, bu.	4,390,354	$1,683,535
Barley, bu.	17,498	9,624
Rye, bu.	162,260	115,582
Potatoes, bu.	2,848,355	$2,295,095
Hay, tons	693,723	7,999,330

In the matter of horses, that product in which Kentucky excels, the Bluegrass State, on the surface, appears to be behind some other States, but it may be taken for granted that what she loses in quantity she more than makes up in quality. The total number of horses in Kentucky on January 1, 1907, according to the Agricultural Department, was 387,327, which were priced at $97 per head, on the average, and had a total farm value of $37,679,152. Of this, Kentucky had 198,839 at the beginning of this year, which were valued at $109 each, or $21,638,325 in all.

Kentucky farmers also own a large number of cattle. These included on January 1 last, 402,000 milch cows, worth $28 a piece, or $11,256,000 in the aggregate; 736, 250 other cattle valued at $18 each or $12,972,716 altogether, and 1,060,000 sheep of an average value of $4.22 each and a total farm value of $4,475,500.

The total number of sheep given above differs greatly from the number in Kentucky producing wool, as estimated by the National Association of Wool Manufacturers. This latter number was on April 1, 1906, 575,000. The average weight of wool per fleece according to the same authority, was 4.75 pounds. The percentage of shrinkage in Kentucky wool product last year was 38. The total amount of washed and unwashed was 2,731,250 pounds, while the amount of wool scoured was 1,693,375 pounds.

Kentuckians owned 1,213,000 hogs last year, the average farm price of which on January 1, 1907, was $6 and their total farm value $7,250,000.

A table of legal weights per bushel of various products in the several States is published. This shows that the Kentucky standard is as follows, in pounds: Flaxseed or linseed, 56; plastering hair, 8; hempseed, 44; Hungarian grass seed, 50; millet, 50; oats, 32; oulons, 57; onion sets, 36; orchard grass seed, 16; dried peas, 39; peas, 60; potatoes, 60; sweet potatoes, 55; rye, 56; timothy seed, 45; turnips, 60; and wheat, 60.

The Limit of Life.

The most eminent medical scientists are unanimous in the conclusion that the generally accepted limitation of human life is many years below the attainable possible with the advanced knowledge of which the race is now possessed. The critical period, that determines the duration of life, is between 50 and 60; the proper care of the body during the decade cannot be too strongly urged; carelessness then being fatal to longevity. Nature's best helper after 50 is Electric Bitter, the scientific tonic medicine that revitalizes every organ of the body. Guaranteed by Sever's Drug Co. 50c.

Quarterly Conference was held here Sunday. Services were opened by Rev. J. W. Hoskinson. Then the presiding elder, Rev. G. S. Shelley, took charge of the meeting. The closing of the meeting was held at the lateness of the hour of commencing the program was not carried out in its regular order as published. Dr. Meador read a paper on "A Missionary Conference, The Great Need of the Day."

Dr. Meador made some points that it would be well for people to study, whether in the church or not. One point was, are we a progressive people and that it is not the time nor the age to be sleeping; that we are bound to heed the Macedonian cry to hasten on the work of our Blessed Master. At the close of Dr. Meador's theme, Mr. H. H. Norris, of High Plains, was called to further discuss the subject.

His talk was very good indeed and rather took on the personal order. He said that several times in his life he had given his last cent to the missionary cause, and that he had never regretted the act, nor ever in the least felt the want of it, that it had only made him more enthusiastic.

Mrs. Norris took the meeting to close for the 11 o'clock sermon by Rev. G. S. Shelley.

In the afternoon the meeting was called to order and a song service held until the people were seated and ready for Quarterly Conference, which was taken up first. Rev. Walter Stith opened with prayer. The roll was called and twenty-four of the delegates answered present. Bro. Shelley remarked that it was the largest Quarterly Conference he had held in six years. Every district on the Big Spring circuit present. Rafe Hoskinson was made secretary for the meeting and the meeting and the regular routine work begun with a hearty good will. The old board of stewards was re-elected with one exception. The stewards' report was good and encouraging. The missionary collection is short, but Bro.

Says: "I Have No Hesitation in Endorsing Peruna As An Efficient Remedy For Catarrh."

"As a general thing, I have been opposed to what are known as patent medicines, but Peruna has long since overcome this feeling. It is now, as it has been for a long time, a well established family medicine with us, upon which we rely to give tired nature substantial restoration."

Terrible Case of Indigestion.
Mr. Donald Robb, Jr., 36 Wright Ave., Hallowell, Me., writes: "I have been suffering from indigestion for several months, and have tried many remedies, but have not been able to get any relief. I have lost my appetite, and my stomach is a terrible case of indigestion followed. Peruna was recommended to me, and after using three bottles I was entirely cured. I therefore recommend Peruna to any one suffering with stomach trouble."

Every Trace of Catarrh Gone.
Mr. James P. Bracken, 610 Tenth Ave., New York City, N. Y., has occupied the office of Water Inspector of New York City, for the past fifteen years. His carries on an extensive plumbing business at 610 Tenth Ave. He is Past Deputy of Grand Knight of Regina Cella Council, Knights of Columbus, N. Y. His writes as follows:

"For nearly a dozen years catarrh had bothered me in one form or another. I was troubled with nasal catarrh, that had affected my stomach, which troubled me most in the morning. My appetite was poor, and I did not seem to relish my food. Indigestion bothered me at times also. I was advised to take Peruna, and I took it as prescribed for a month when my cure was almost complete. Today there is not a trace of catarrh in my system, and I can say without hesitation that Peruna cured me."

Agreeable and Effective Tonic.
General John Finn, Washington, D. C., veteran soldier of the civil war, a prominent Grand Army man and commander of the oldest post in the United States, John A. Finn, of the Department of the Potomac, Grand Army of the Republic, writes:

"Peruna was recommended to me by many of my associates, and I had tried it a fair trial. Have found it a most agreeable and effective tonic, pleasant soothing, and leaves one free from the deleterious effects produced by the many nostrums now on the market. I have suffered from catarrhal affections the past winter, and have found Peruna most beneficial and commend it for what it has done for me."

Relieves Mind and Body.
Mr. G. W. Woodbury, Rogers, Ohio, formerly Captain and Center of the Hiram College Basketball Team, writes:

"When body and mind alike were weary and refused to work, a few doses of Peruna restored me to my normal condition, and I can say more positively than anything I know."

The Family Relies on Peruna.
A. Howitt Nickerson, Capt. U. S. Army, Adjutant General on General McCook's staff, writes from the Census Building, Washington, D. C., as follows:

"It affords me great pleasure to recommend Peruna as a most excellent tonic with many medicinal qualities that assist nature in overcoming the various ills with which the human family is often afflicted, and is always in demand."

Says Peruna Saved His Life.
"Peruna has cured me of catarrh. I can work all day, eat hearty, sleep well, and my digestion is all right. I was not able to do a day's work last year. I candidly feel that using your medicine was the means of saving my life. I find it is just what it is recommended to be, and I speak in highest praise of Peruna. I shall recommend it to all my friends."—Alvin A. Nelson, Virginia, Va.

When any one has catarrh of the head or throat they know it. Snuffing, sneezing, coughing, spitting, gagging, choking—these are some of the symptoms. When any one has catarrh of the bronchial tubes they are not quite so apt to recognize their trouble as catarrh, although there are great many people who begin to appreciate the fact that catarrh of the bronchial tubes is sure to create a cough.

Harsh prodigious symptoms attending catarrh of the body where the catarrh is located. Catarrh deranges the function of any organ. If the catarrh be in the stomach it produces dyspepsia.

If located in the kidneys or bladder it produces urinary disorders. If it operates throughout the whole system, it should be an internal remedy, and not a local application.
